We are excited to share that SUNY Niagara is partnering with the United Way of Greater Niagara to take part in their 14-Week Equity Challenge, now in its fourth year.

This FREE online learning experience is designed to give individuals and groups the opportunity to explore issues of race, equity, and social justice—and reflect on how they shape the places where we live, learn, and work.

Course content has been developed by Niagara University Professor David B. Taylor, Ph.D and each week, beginning September 8th, participants will receive a new topic along with about 20 minutes of curated materials, including articles, videos, and podcasts, that encourage reflection and inspire meaningful action in daily life.

By joining the challenge, you'll be learning alongside members of our college and broader community, engaging in important conversations, and helping to build a more inclusive future.

How to Participate

Weekly content will be shared directly to your email and will also be posted at www.uwgn.org/equity.

We encourage all students to register, invite family and friends, and take this challenge together because real change starts with learning and grows through community. Thank you for your support in making SUNY Niagara a place of inclusion and belonging.

WANT TO MAKE A DIFFERENCE ON Campus?

The JEDI Committee (Justice, Equity, Diversity & Inclusion) is looking for a student representative to join us for the 2025–2026 academic year! We meet just once a month, and your voice will help make SUNY Niagara a more inclusive and welcoming institution for everyone.

Printing On Campus:

SUNY Niagara Print Initiative – What You Need to Know

SUNY Niagara has joined SUNY's system-wide Print Initiative to make printing more sustainable. This effort will help us reduce paper and supply use, lower carbon emissions and conserve valuable resources like trees and water.

What's Changing:

Print jobs will no longer print automatically. Instead, your job will be sent to a secure cloud queue called Pharos Print. You will then release your document at one of the four designated printer locations below using your personal passcode:

• ACE (D-201) • E-Commons • Lewis Library (D-200) • NFCI Student Computer Lab (Room 255)

Getting Started:

Visit one of the designated printer locations above and look for the "How to Set Up Your Pharos Print Account" instructions.

Printing Going Forward:

When printing, select "SUNY Niagara Secure" as your printer. Go to a designated location and release your print job by entering your personal Pharos passcode directly on the printer display.

Need Help?

If you run into issues, please refer to the troubleshooting tips and support contacts on the instruction pages. Thank you for supporting a more secure and sustainable printing system at SUNY Niagara.
